

Ice cold in Cardigan Ward

Patients and staff at the Cardigan Ward in Morriston Hospital will benefit this summer with a new Ice-maker donated by the DJM Charitable Trust.

Paul Thorburn, Marketing Executive is pictured along with Ward Sister Lisa Morris, Staff Nurse Tracey Davies & Eleri Baker, Health Care Support at the hand-over of the new equipment, which also included a toaster for when it is not so warm!

The DJM Charitable Trust is independent of our law firm and aims to help organisations and groups in need of support in the region. We are proud to be helping the NHS with this token of our appreciation for all of the hard work being undertaken by staff, so that patients in need of care can remain safe.
